

"Teggy" won the "King of the Jingles" title, police say. He made his living gambling, and was unbeatable according to police reports. The nickname "Teggy" was given him because of a wooden leg. He was not known by other names.

Top Sergeant Fornes and Officer Bates started investigating the murder yesterday morning. The case is now in the hands of Lieutenants Linkous and Shoun.

A coroner's inquest will be held this afternoon.

LOWER PRICES ARE HERE!

"The skies are cleared. Prices have receded from the high peak and good times are before us. Like a rainbow after the storm heralding fairer weather, so does this advertisement and those of the merchants named here, herald the good news that unsettled market conditions have passed and lower prices are here."

This emblem identifies the merchants who are participating in this co-operative advertising plan. Look for it in advertisements and in show windows.

Begin your fall shopping today in earnest. Visit these stores and compare prices with those that prevailed a year ago. See how much less they are and how much better the quality is in merchandise of every kind.

An era of lower prices is with us. Now is a very favorable time to buy for the merchandise is new and prices are within the reach of all. Each one of these merchants are anxious to demonstrate to you how much prices have declined and would welcome a visit from you so that you can judge for yourself. There is no advantage in delaying your fall buying for complete stocks are being shown and the new prices are very attractive.

A Visit to these Stores Will Convince You That Prices Are Lower Than They Were a Year Ago

These merchants want you to come and see for yourself how prices have receded. It is not generally known what a big difference there is between prices of today and of a year ago. A tour of inspection through these various stores will acquaint you with the new prices and this will prove interesting as well as profitable.

At this time of the year everyone is in need of new fall merchandise and if you make your selections now it will be at a most favorable time. The quality of the new merchandise is far ahead of the qualities of the past season at the same prices and prices have reached a much lower level. Learn this for yourself by visiting these stores this week.

The business outlook is bright and people generally are prosperous. There is no reason why fall buying should be delayed. There is every favorable reason why fall buying should begin briskly. Get the most good out of new merchandise by making your purchases now and enjoying them while they are new.

RESETTLEMENT FRANCHISE

The text of a resettlement franchise for the traction lines within the City of Fresno as now presented to the City Commission by City Attorney Johnston, will of course be subjected to the same thorough study by the people of Fresno as was given to the text previously presented by the attorneys for the Traction Company.

It does, however, present at once certain improvements over the previous text which will commend themselves.

Primarily, it does away with the whole cumbersome treatment of fares, and of "reserve fund," suggested in the former text. The reserve fund is not provided at all. And the matter of fares is left, in accordance with state law, to the State Railroad Commission. The state commission under any circumstances, would have had jurisdiction in the matter of fares, and it was just as well for the city not to pretend to regulate what it had already turned over to the state commission by authority of this city and in accordance with state law. This leaves the matter of whether we are to pay 5 or 6 or 7 cents or some other fare, to the state commission, and in fact also leaves to that body the matter of the amount of reserve that may be built up by the company as a revolving fund against emergencies.

Secondly, this "does not provide for an indefinite franchise. The public is very properly how suspicious of the effect of granting indefinite franchises. Instead, the franchise is granted for a period of fifty years. This means that the company, in return for abandoning its present franchises, which it avows are not sufficient in expectancy of life to warrant the contracting of bonded indebtedness, can now go into the money market on a fifty-years life as a borrowing basis.

On the other hand, the privilege is retained to the city of buying out the company under certain conditions, conditions which do not include any right of the company to refuse to sell. This ten years after ten years can offer to buy. The ten years enables the company to have ten years to make its own record. Any bonds that it might sell in the next ten years, for instance, would be the sole responsibility of the company's for a decade. But when the ten years were up, the notice of intention to purchase could be given at any time, instead of only once every ten years.

And further, this proposal to buy would be made on a basis of a valuation to be fixed by the State Railroad Commission and not on an accumulative value passed on from year to year on the books of the company. Whether this would be more or less than the amount as arrived at by the method suggested in the previous text, it at least has the merit of being a "living valuation," instead of a value predicated on facts existing many years before and not at all fitting to conditions at the time of purchase.

By the terms of this proposed ordinance, the city would not be entering into a perpetual contract with a corporation. The bargain is made for fifty years at the most, with an even freer opportunity to make a purchase should the interests of the city demand it.

There are a number of other safeguards and improvements. The carrying of freight is prohibited, except on special permission by the city commission. It is specified that the franchise shall have, in any consideration, no value except the amount that is actually paid into the treasury for it at the time of the resettlement. And further, it is provided that all accounts of the company as offered to the State Railroad Commission shall be filed in duplicate with the city commission. It should be noted that at present the city government of Fresno does not possess any evidence of the operations of the company, such as are offered to the State Commission.

Doubtless further legal examination of this new text may bring to light desired modifications or additional desired provisions. But this text, prepared by the city attorney, has merit in including provisions that bring it more clearly into line with what the citizens of Fresno will demand.

NATIONALIZATION BY STRIKE?

We have already said that we sympathize with the fact that a group of men, entering into an agreement to receive certain wages, especially when this constitutes a reduction in wages, and also to definitely give up the strike efficiency that comes from the "open shop," should desire some public sort of assurance that the new working terms should be kept for the length of time agreed upon. And this view applies directly to the situation at the time the strike in the oil fields was called.

But the combination of the desire that the proposed agreement should be given security, with a proposal that this security be given the backing of war-time pressure from the government, when the war had gone, was foundation for suspicion that the oil workers were demanding more than could reasonably be given to them by the public. And when, on top of this, the oil workers established a system of police jurisdiction within central California that was entirely unauthorized by law, and when this police jurisdiction not only kept order among the members of the union, but also enforced its will upon men not oil workers and not related to the union and not living under the tacit agreement of co-operation established by membership in the union, the assumption that the oil fields leaders proposed a system of "nationalization" appeared to be entirely justified.

This appearance of being an attempt to put over "nationalization" was further enhanced by various statements made by oil workers themselves. Probably the members of the union as a whole were not responsible for these statements. But with the facts seeming to confirm them, the suspicion appeared to be well founded.

This movement toward nationalization, if it was such, was one that could not and should not be tolerated by the people of California, as an "industrial" measure. If the people of the United States wish to "nationalize" their industries, they have a perfect right to do so. As a self governing democracy, we must always reserve to ourselves this right.

But nationalization must be accomplished as a result of the determination of the people of the United States that this is a proper measure. And the people of the United States cannot tolerate being forced into a policy of nationalization of any particular industry by the carrying on of a strike in an essential industry, especially if backed by the application of soviet conditions of government to the territory comprised in the producing area.

The system of government exercised in this oil territory has been actually that of the soviet. The law and order committee has been a body created not by the citizens of the territory, under due process of law, but by the secret determination of certain individual members of a particular craft. This is sovietism.

The fact that the actions of this soviet have been for the most part well considered is no excuse for its unlawful character. As an example of the possibilities of a group of men taking the law into their own hands, it is thoroughly vicious.

There is a due process of law, for the accomplishment of such reforms as nationalization. We can, if we wish nationalization, elect members to Congress who shall propose such amendments to the Constitution of the United States as will bring it about.

This process, to be sure, is too slow and too uncertain to please the impatience of communists. But that very slowness is an assurance to the people of the United States that they are getting not only what they want, but something that is being thought out well enough and tried out carefully enough, so that what we find useful and trustworthy in our present industrial conditions shall not be in a frenzy of political imagination thrown away, with disaster to our industrial life.

When the real workers of the United States want something, they are certain to get it. It is only when some of the workers, who think that in some proposal they see a chance to improve themselves, urge a hasty experiment in industry, that we have to point out that the welfare of the whole people must be provided for by the only sort of united action that includes all of us—political action at the polls.

The forcing of a soviet government on a section of the State of California, even to accomplish a lawful measure of self restraint on strikers, has alienated the sympathy of the mass of people not immediately subject to the personal contacts of the oil fields. There have been at least enough instances of unlawful exertion of power through this self constituted law and order committee, to strengthen the suspicion that the strike organization is directed against people outside the union rather than within it. And the proposal of nationalization, even though not officially promulgated by the union leaders, has assumed proportions that outshadow the merits of the strike controversy. We cannot pretend that "nationalization by strike" is an immediate danger even in case this strike should succeed. But we cannot deny to ourselves that the success of this sort of strike would immediately encourage the erection of self constituted committees in many other places, to force on the people of the United States changes in policy that should only be reached through the judgment of general elections.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The Republican renews again this morning its weekly publication of High School News, prepared by the members of the Fresno High School class in Journalism, and supervised by Miss Helen Fletcher, instructor in Journalism, under the general direction of Principal Delbert Branton.

This publication was first undertaken by The Republican last May, after it had been found advisable to suspend publication of the students' journal, the "Hi Times." Feeling regret that the young men and women in the Journalism class should lose the advantage of seeing their own work in print, The Republican offered this means of practical service for the young newspaper people. The interest shown in this weekly budget of school news, during the spring months, has justified a renewal of the arrangement, which will be continued Monday throughout the current school year.

The Republican undertakes no editorial relationship to the news offered except that of adjusting it to the immediate mechanical conditions of publication. It is desired that the initiative afforded to the members of the class shall be modified only by the instructions of their school superiors and by the necessary limitations of space and newspaper convention.

We have a right to expect that the coroner's inquest into the deaths of Soules and Barner will establish, if it is humanly possible, whether the accident was due to action of the driver, the condition of the machine or the condition of the track. Or if this cannot be shown, the inquest should indicate this fact clearly.

The New Moon

Agnes Mary Lawrence in Hospital Saturday Fund Journal, London

Because the stars were watching
She veiled herself in cloud,
Lost they should read her secrets—
She was so shyly proud.
Her thoughts were all unknown,
Her dream-world was her own.

Among the starry watchers
She passed with steady feet,
Wrapped in her gentle silence,
So coldly, strangely sweet,
With that reluctant grace
She kept her even pace.

We drive our dreams to market;
Our thoughts are all to sell;
In vulgar showrooms
She guards her secrets well—
Before no eyes are laid
The dream-thought of a maid.

There is something peculiarly touching about a bald-headed man's condemnation of balded hair.

It is asserted that the Government Conference will mark the first page of a new era of history. You might call it the frontispiece.

There are two kinds of poets. Those who write real poetry, and those who write a pretty good thing.

CHAPTER III.

Muriel Lannard stopped abruptly when she saw the lowly driver standing by the curb.

"That!" she exclaimed. "Is that your car?"

"Absolutely. Why not?" responded Harry Bacon, opening the door with an elaborate flourish. "My lady, the car awaits! Let us away through the lovely parks and tree-lined boulevards."

Her face reflected a tumult of angry emotions. She had an impulse to fly back into the house. How could she ride up the Boulevard at this fashionable hour in that thing! A hundred acquaintances were certain to recognize her.

The cranking of the car took some time, during which the occupants of passing motor cars looked on with curiosity and amusement. Miss Lannard was conspicuously dressed for a Rolls-Royce, not for a humble driver. She was deeply annoyed, and held her fur high about her face. If Harry was conscious of her anger, he gave no sign.

Glimmering quickly from right to left, she hurriedly entered the car.

"We'll not go up to the Park," she said abruptly. He smiled.

"I am ashamed of my car, are you?" She flushed.

"I just remembered that I must go down to the Day Nursery," he smiled again. The way to the Nursery lay through obscure streets into the heart of the tenement district. She would never be recognized in these sections.

Soon the little car was rattling busily over cobblestones instead of asphalt.

"Don't you think she runs nicely for her age?" asked Harry cheerfully, apparently unaware of the smoldering resentment at his side.

"I get it," she continued, steering between the crowds of children playing in the streets. When the car passed a group he heard her exclaim irritably:

"How annoying! Why don't they keep their miserable children at home!"

At that moment Harry suddenly held the girl.

After a time they drew up before a neat building bearing a sign "Day Nursery." He had been there before. It was Miss Lannard's pet charity, to which she gave an occasional hour of services when social demands were slack.

A pleasant-faced but rather harassed matron greeted them, and was presently pouring out the woes of the institution into Miss Lannard's unobscured ear. The expenses were still nearly double pre-war ones, and she knew people were less than ever inclined to give to charities. But unless supplementary funds were raised at once, she would either have to turn away tired mother who each day, on the way to factory or shop, brought their pale children for the clean food and wholesome attention of the nursery, or she cut down mercilessly on that very food and attention.

One little girl looked wistfully into Miss Lannard's face, which suddenly showed a glow of tenderness.

"You poor little dear!" she exclaimed, kneeling and catching the shy little thing in her arms.

Harry's eyes softened as he watched her. The impulsive action, so apparently natural, struck a chord deep in his heart.

"You wonderful, Muriel," he said, so low that only she heard. "You love children, don't you?"

She shot a quick glance at him. There was no mistaking what he was thinking of, and she flushed uncomfortably.

Again, on their way home, he spoke of her love for children and how they must adore her, but her beautiful profile was now light-tipped and set.

And once again Harry passed over the question that was troubling in his mind. Which was the real Muriel Lannard—the one who was irritated by the children playing in the street, or the one whose arms had tenderly caressed the little unfortunate in the Day Nursery?

One was hateful, the other adorable.

Their arrival at home was tragically ill timed.

Mrs. Lannard had just alighted from her limousine as the driver rattled up to the curb.

Acquaintances Worth While

We are judged by our acquaintances.

If they are the right sort, we are held to be the right sort.

It is fortunate for us that we can select them ourselves.

It is still more fortunate that we do not need to select them from our immediate neighborhood, or even from our own time.

Most of us, for example, have no opportunity to number Lloyd George or President Elliot of Harvard, or George Bernard Shaw or Sir James M. Barrie among our personal acquaintances.

But we can become well acquainted with all of them and at their best, by becoming acquainted with their writings and public speeches.

We can in the same manner become acquainted with Shakespeare, Keats, Shelley, Browning, Keats, Thackeray and so on down through time to the author of the best and latest book of the year.

We can make the very best of acquaintances without leaving our homes, learn their opinions and ideas of life, and their principles and outlook on life.

Every library is filled with the best society there is in the world, and we can move in it without so much as an introduction.

And we are judged by these acquaintances even more than we are by those with whom we talk across the back fence, or visit in their houses in the evening.

A man with a very small amount of spare time can secure an acquaintance list that includes all the great men of history, and he doesn't have to go to the trouble of asking any of them to dinner.

If your acquaintanceship is limited, extend it.

It will take little time, and no trouble at all. In fact it will be as pleasant as forming new and delightful acquaintances on a steamship voyage or a summer vacation. And it is not possible, even under the most favorable circumstances, to meet all the great men and women of the world unless you meet them in their books.

Forty Years Ago Today

SELMA NOTES—E. H. Tucker, our popular stage driver, has gone to the bay city on a visit. Mrs. Tucker has just returned from a visit to Santa Rosa. Harry Key has taken up his residence below as purchaser for C. B. Judd & Co., who by the way, are starting a branch store on Tule river, at Woodville. A carload of lumber was shipped to that point a few days since for the construction of their building. Kutner, Goldstein & Co. are making preparations for the immediate erection of a large brick store at this place. D. Jones of Woodville will also shortly start a general merchandise store here. J. E. Whitson has moved his postoffice building back and will proceed immediately to enlarge by putting up a fine front. We have five stores already with good four in the near future, which will guarantee good stocks to select from and reasonable prices. Our warehousemen look happy, and our merchants do not complain. With a good soil, plenty of water and an energetic population, Selma's course must be onward and upward.

Twenty Years Ago Today

A mass meeting of the growers appointed the following: A. F. Chandler, C. N. Blowers, G. W. Beall, C. Baker, Alex. Gordon, Thomas Nock, L. Talmadge, W. F. Howell, J. H. Waterman, M. J. Lawrence and E. Kennedy, as a committee to confer with the Kearney board to discuss the New Jersey corporation. The meeting of the Fruit and Raisin Growers' Union last night in the store building on the corner of Fresno and E streets was one of the best since the union's organization. About 150 members were present. Col. John P. Irish of San Francisco speaks against woman suffrage in the courthouse park. County Fair opens with C. G. Eberhart as secretary in charge.

The few things a woman can't accomplish with a hair pin, she can handle very nicely with a can opener.

When the affable stranger offers a cigar, you can't tell whether he is a politician or a smooth talker.

The old-fashioned farmer bought gold bricks, but he was probably too wise to put his faith in half restorers.

But if you build your house in the depths of the forest, the coal man won't make a beaten path to your door.

And let the cuckoo that men do live after them and breathe a pure air that is unknown in jail.

Bible Not Exclusive Source of Christian Science Says Raber

Rev. A. O. Raber, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, forwarded to The Republican the text of the address of his sermon last evening. This was a rejoinder to the reply of Peter V. Raber, Christian Scientist, to the text of Mr. Raber's sermon of last Sunday. The rejoinder follows:

Mr. Raber in last Friday morning's Republican, attempted to reply to my last sermon of a Sabbath previous to my last Sabbath evening sermon.

I admit that, to the uninformed, my reference to George Quimby's statement was a little vague. Mr. Quimby never claimed that his father, Dr. P. P. Quimby, was the author of the brand of religion Mrs. Eddy promulgated; for that matter, he said he was not.

But Mrs. Eddy derived the fundamental ideas of her healing system from Dr. J. P. Quimby, a native of New England, and of which the interested investigator is referred to the following books:

"The Truth About Christian Science," pages 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 9

HANFORD DEFEATS MADERA IN OPENING GAME OF SERIES

RALPH STROUD PITCHES TEAM TO VICTORY OVER RAY KEATING

Kings Bunch Hits In Second and Ninth Innings, Which Coupled With Errors, Spelled Defeat For Coyotes

MADERA, Oct. 2.—Before one of the largest crowds of baseball fans that ever witnessed a baseball game in the San Joaquin Valley, the Hanford Kings blanked the Madera Coyotes 5 to 0 in the opening game of the five-game season series, between the first and second half pennant winners of the San Joaquin Valley league.

The game was a pitchers' duel between Ralph Stroud of the Kings and Ray Keating of the Coyotes. Stroud had the better of the argument, letting the Madera club down with four scattered hits, while Keating, the pitching ace of the Coyotes was touched for six.

The Kings scored two runs in the second inning on two hits and an error. The score stood at this until the ninth inning when Hanford secured three more runs on two hits, an error and a fielder's choice. The next game of the post season series will be played at Hanford next Sunday. The team winning three out of the five games of the series will be declared the winner of the league for 1921.

A large delegation of local fans are expected to accompany the Coyotes to Hanford next Sunday. Score.

HUNTERS REPORT DUCKS PLENTIFUL

LOS BANOS, Oct. 2.—Yesterday was the opening day of the duck season and already a number of hunters have reported getting the limit.

A party of high school boys composed of Gus Brion, Henry Price and Alberto Aulanti report near the limit. The former brought 17 and the latter two 24 each.

Although ducks are reported to be scarce in the valley this year because of the lack of water, they seem to be more plentiful in this vicinity than any other.

Hand Is Injured In Cranking Car

Night hand laceration occurred yesterday, while cranking an automobile shortly after 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Several stitches were required to close the wound. The injuries were caused by Dr. W. L. Adams in the emergency hospital.

Don't Neglect Your Children's Eyes

You see it in your children to see that they do not suffer from weak eyes. If their eyes are not in the best of condition they will be handicapped in their studies as well as in their work after they leave school. Let us examine your children's eyes and tell you whether or not there is in need of attention. If so, we can fit them with the right kind of glasses that will strengthen their eyes and restore their normal vision. Come to day. We have nothing for eye examinations.

SELMA LEGION DEFEATS DELANO BY 129-0 SCORE

SELMA, Oct. 2.—Playing in mid-season form the Selma Legion football team yesterday smothered the Delano Legion team under an avalanche of touchdowns and goals, winning the game by a score of 129 to 0. The Selma Legion players, confident that they have a much better team this year than last, never lapsed in their efforts and although the Delano Legion team fought every inch of the ground until the last whistle, they failed to make a first down during the entire game. The local team scored at will on the players, forward passes and runs, the two occasions, on receiving a punt, a Selma player ran the entire distance to the goal doing remarkable and pretty open field running.

Next Saturday the Selma Legion team goes to Santa Maria for a game on Sunday afternoon with the Santa Maria Legion team which claims not to have lost a game during the past four seasons. The score by period:

First period—Selma, 24; Delano, 0. Second period—Selma, 22; Delano, 0. Third period—Selma, 25; Delano, 0. Fourth period—Selma, 22; Delano, 0. Total—Selma, 93; Delano, 0.

Official referee, Church of Delano. Umpire, Bartley of Fresno. Head linesman, Sullivan of Selma.

LARGE IMPLEMENT PRICES LOWERED

The Woodward Company announces that their prices now average at least 20 per cent lower in all classes of their implements than a year ago. They state that the general low prices will probably be maintained during the coming fall and winter.

The Woodward company have just moved to their new building at the corner of Ninth and G streets on the Southern Pacific railroad, a large modern and a block east of the Southern Pacific plant.
